SEIZED SEALERS.

Their Release Has Not Been Ordered.

SECRETARY BAYARD'S VIEWS.

Terrible Atrocities by Indians in Bolivia—Murder and Cannibalism.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

WASHINGTON, September 18.—With regard to the statements published to-day, alleging that Secretary Bayard had telegraphed to "his officer" in Alaska to release the seized sealers, and that the order had not been executed because the Alaska official was not sure of the authenticity of the order, Secretary Bayard said that the dispatch showed its incorrectness on its face.

ORDERS NOT MADE THAT WAY.

Alaska is part of the United States, and consequently the State Department has no officers whatever there, as it has in foreign countries. All its knowledge of Alaskan affairs comes through other departments of the Government. The Secretary of State would give no order to an Alaskan official nor receive information from one except through the head of another department.

A FLAT DENIAL.

With reference to that part of the dispatch and the other dispatches which allege that the release of the seized sealers had been ordered, the Secretary made the following explicit denial of any knowledge of any such order: "There has been to my knowledge no order issued by the President for the release of any of the vessels seized this year, simply because we have no knowledge of the circumstances under which the vessels were seized and we only know that they are in the hands of the court, and, therefore, will be dealt with according to law.

THREE RELEASED LAST YEAR.

There were three cases last year in which the President saw fit to order the release of three vessels seized in August, 1886, but these are the only cases I know of in which vessels were ordered released. That occurred last year, and the facts were made public at the time.

BAYARD'S GRIEVANCES.

The Secretary was somewhat annoyed at the criticism which has been made upon his course with regard to the fisheries question and particularly with reference to the commission for settlement. He said that he had made a proposal to Great Britain for settlement, and that the proposal had been made public some time ago. He could not hasten the publication of the correspondence which had since taken place. It would all be laid before Congress in due time, and be made public, and would show that his efforts have been to obtain an honorable and fair settlement of the question.

BOLIVIA'S BUDGET.

Indians on the Warpath---Fearful Atrocities Committed.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—The Panama steamer Acapulco arriving today brings news that in Bolivia the Indian rising is increasing and assuming alarming proportions. Three more tribes have joined and if the government does not soon send help all the towns on the Beni will be reduced to ashes. On the 24th of June there was

A RIOT

In La Paz, owing to the municipality having ordered that cattle should be killed in the new slaughter-house and the meat carried thence for sale in the market place. Thirteen of the butchers who had killed as formerly were compelled to convey their meat to the market and to sell it there.

RUFFIANLY RENEGADES.

The other butchers were then at once joined by some 3000 Indians and Cholos, who sacked their marketplace, smashed all the counters and benches, and then set fire to it in different places. Then they went to the prison, smashed in the doors and windows, and liberated several of their number who had been arrested.

A TERRIBLE STORY.

From Viacha, which is in close proximity of La Paz, the following letter was subsequently written: "Since the inspection of lands the excitement among the Indians has increased, numerous murders are committed daily and in some of them the most horrible ferocity is evinced.

TORTURED AND KILLED.

A few days ago a man named Chocolla and his son were murdered by Indians belonging to the village. After being tortured, they were quartered and the pieces thrown into a blazing fire, where they were roasted. A little prior to this the manager of Causaya was quartered by laborers at Corpa. Other crimes of yet more horrible nature have been committed, and people have been murdered whose flesh has afterward been devoured by the murderers."

HO! FOR ST. LOUIS.

The California Delegation Masses To-Day.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—The California delegation of the Grand Army of the Republic will to-morrow move from different points in the State to the Needles, on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, where a junction will be made and where they will proceed in a solid body eastward. The delegation will make halts at Albuquerque, N. M., and Topeka, Kansas, both of which places extensive preparations for entertainment have been made. It is expected that the delegation will number about 400.

The President at Home.

WASHINGTON, September 18.—The President and party reached this city at 9 o'clock this morning. In the afternoon the President and Mrs. Cleveland rode out to Oak View. They are much fatigued from the constant round of receptions, but highly delighted on the whole.

BASE BALL.

A Close Contest Between the Pioneers and Altas.

SACRAMENTO, September 18.—A large number of people witnessed the game of ball here to-day between the Altas and Pioneers. It was a fine contest and the Altas had it won half a dozen times, but lost it by some of the most careless base running ever witnessed on the diamond. They outplayed their opponents at every other point. Lorrigan and Mullee both pitched a good game, the honors being even between them, except that Mullee gave six men bases on balls, while Lorrigan only accorded four Altas that privilege. In the eighth inning the Altas gave the game away. O'Day was safe on a high fly which Henmore muffed. The score was then 4 to 3 in favor of the Pioneers, but as good batters were on deck the Altas' friends cheered lustily and deemed it almost certain that the Sacramentans would tie the score or take the lead. O'Day, however, was put out in a weak attempt to steal second. Anderson then made a hard hit through Smith's hands and the crowd cheered again, but Anderson also quit on Carroll's fine throw to second. Powers was given first on balls. Newbert went to second on N. Smith's muff and Powers was advanced to third. Cahill was next to the bat and the Altas' chances were of roseate hue, when Powers fell asleep at third and was put out while napping, when he should have been wide awake. The score stood: Pioneers, 4; Altas, 3.

G. & M. VS. HAVERLYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—At the Haight street park this afternoon the Greenhood & Morans won. They outbatted their opponents and outfielded them at nearly every point. The first base play of Bennett and the playing of Hanly being the only exceptions. The Greenhood & Morans won the toss and sent the Haverlys to the bat. Lawton, the first batter up, hit to McCord, who assisted him out at first. Hanly was more fortunate and went to third on Borcher's wild pitch. Bennett hit the ball, but was put out in trying to steal second, on which hit Hanly scored. McDonald failed to hold Sweeney. Long was safe at first on Lawton's error, and scored on McDonald's double to left. McDonald scored on McCord's single to center and Donahue's failure to hold Stein's thrown ball. McCord stole third and scored on Ryan's single to left. Ryan was advanced on Blakiston's base on balls. Borchers hit a fly to Sweeney, which was muffed and the bases were full. Donovan was given a life on balls, forcing in Ryan and the bases were again filled. Shea and Gurnett both flew to Bennett. Long retired the side by going out at first on Hanly's assist. This inning netted the Oaklanders four runs. The Haverlys failed to score in their second inning while their opponents scored one. In the third inning the Haverlys by brilliant playing scored three runs to their opponents' none. Both sides failed to make a run in the fourth inning. In the fifth inning the Haverlys played ahead by making two runs, making the score, Haverlys 6, G. & M. 5. In the eighth inning the Haverlys made one more run to the G. & M.'s none. The ninth inning was hotly contested, but by a series of excellent plays the G. & M. came out conquerers. Score, G. & M. 8, Haverlys 7.

LEAGUE TROUBLES.

PITTSBURG, September 18.—In an interview to-day John Ward, of the New York ball club and president of the brotherhood of National League ballplayers, said that President Young of the League and his colleagues had so far refused to recognize the brotherhood. If this resolve be persisted in there will be trouble, as not a single member of the brotherhood will sign a contract next year until the delegation confers with representatives of the National League. Ward hinted indirectly that if the League steadfastly refused to recognize the brotherhood, they might form an association. "We know any number of capitalists," he added, "who want to invest money in baseball."

GENERAL NEWS.

Not Much Hope for the Condemned Anarchists.

A FATAL HUNTING PARTY.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

CHICAGO, September 18.—State's Attorney Grinnell, who returned from the East to-night, in an interview regarding the Anarchist case, said that the decision of the Supreme Court could not have been a surprise to any one familiar with law and the facts in the case. He does not think that the Supreme Court of the United States will grant a writ in the case. Being asked if he would petition for a commutation of the sentences to imprisonment for life, he said, "So far as my office is concerned my duty in the case is ended. I have no recommendation to make, and do not expect to sign any letter of recommendation for the commutation of the sentence of any of the Anarchists, but I shall do nothing to prevent the friends of the defendants seeking relief. After the rendition of judgment I did say and now repeat that the conduct of Schwab and Fielden during the trial and while addressing the court before the sentence was commendable. They did not abuse the law, were respectful to the court and did not breathe vengeance as did the others, but I can see no way in which the cases can be separated. I regret to see the expressions of hate and revenge on the part of the friends of the defendants in New York and elsewhere, because it will leave them very little chance for an impartial hearing by the Governor."

OGLESBY PETITIONED.

NEW YORK, September 18.—District Assembly No. 49, K. of L., passed resolutions to-day asking Governor Oglesby, of Illinois, to commute the sentence of the seven Chicago Anarchists. His remarks were received with evident approval by the majority of his hearers. A collection to swell the Anarchist defense fund was taken up and over $32 was raised.

A DISORDERLY SCENE.

NEW YORK, September 18.—George Schelling, of Chicago, was present at a meeting of the Central Labor Union to-day to present the case of the condemned anarchists with a view to enlisting union laborers in behalf of the condemned men, but internal disputes prevented him from carrying out his intention. A schism between the progressive socialists and Henry George's adherents broke out again and caused a great row, after which the meeting dispersed without hearing Schelling, who, however, was assured that they were all in sympathy with his cause.

A SAD RUIN.

From the Dignity of a Magistrate's Bench to Rag Picking.

After lying dead on his bed of rags for nearly five days the nearly decomposed body of ex-Alderman John Grundy, who nearly thirty years ago was a power in the old Schuylkill district of what is now the Ninth Ward, was found recently by the police in the garret of the lodging-house at 529 Alaska street. The man's life during the past twenty years tells a terrible story of rum, with a fitting climax in his death.

Years before the war Grundy was considered one of the most expert marble-cutters in the city, and he always had the best of work in the yards along the West Philadelphia river front. Money rolled in fast, and he and his wife, Margaret, lived in comfort near the Market street bridge. Then he became a successful politician, and was elected Alderman for a number of terms by the Schuylkill boys.

A change came. The popular magistrate took to rum and soon became a steady drinker. He lost his office, his employment, and at length he drifted out of sight and found his way into Alaska street. There he became a rag-picker. For years his wife sorted rags for Patrick Flatley, of Sixth and St. Mary streets, and he disposed of his wares at the same place. All this time his sprees continued.

It was last Wednesday morning early when the lodgers in the house 529 Alaska street saw the ex-Alderman stagger into his garret room with a whisky bottle. Then for days they saw nothing of him. As this was no unusual thing for the old man (he was nearly 70 years of age) they took no special heed.

But yesterday several of the lodgers while passing the door of Grundy's apartment noticed a terrible odor, and they tried the door. It was locked, so they called in Special Officer Kennedy, of the Third District, and Policemen Chantry and Rogers. These men broke through the boards with an ax. The spectacle presented was a terrible one. The body of John Grundy, fully dressed, lay stretched upon the bed. It was in the last stages of decomposition. Ex-Alderman Grundy had died in a garret a drunkard's death.

Three weeks ago his wife lost the sight of one eye, and the other was failing rapidly. She is now in the almshouse.

Grundy often spoke to his neighbors, by whom he was well liked, of his old days as a police justice. Many a time he predicted to them that his end would be what it was.—[Philadelphia Record.

From the Peak.

Clarence N. Glover, H. W. Herndon and W. S. Eicholz have returned from their jaunt up to the summit of the Sierras.

They had a fine time and are loud in their praise of the magnificent scenery of the cañons, the grandeur of the pines and the novelty of the trip generally. They kept their camp fire burning brightly at night, so that pilgrims might find their resting place, ostensibly, but probably mountain lions figured largely in the case.

The fishing is splendid, but as they could not get down into the San Gabriel with their burros they didn't fish.

From these gentlemen we learn that a party of workmen under the direction of engineers are at work clearing a trail down the mountain side, following the spur which runs up from Eaton's cañon. This is to afford the engineers who will soon arrive an opportunity to view the proposed route to better advantage.

This trail will no doubt come into use by those wishing to make a hasty trip to the peak, but it will probably be impracticable for pack animals. It will shorten the present route via Wilson's trail about seven or eight miles.

We have never met one who had returned from a visit to the majestic Sierra but went into raptures over the magnificence of the scenery.—[Pasadena Union.

Omaha girl—"Horrors! don't you come near me. So you are one of the girls that posed for that Boston photographer, are you?" Boston girl—"Are you crazy? There is nothing the matter with this photograph." "Nothing the matter with it? it's outrageous! And this is what the Boston girls call art, is it?" Oh! I see what you mean now. No, indeed, I was not one of those awful women who had their pictures taken as Greek goddesses. Mercy, no! no respectable person would do that." "But what is this picture here?" "How hopelessly ignorant you Western people are! That is I in my bathing-suit."

DISTURBANCES IN IRELAND.

Dillon Thinks That There are Hard Times Ahead for the Nationalists.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

PARIS, September 18.—General Boulanger, in an address to the officers of his command after the manœuvres by his corps at Clermont yesterday, strongly urged the necessity of continually exercising the offensive tactics which were proper to the French army. He concluded his remarks as follows: "We have to-day more need than ever of the qualities of a warrior, for the hour has not yet struck for the disarmament of the people of Europe. It is madness to believe it and a crime to say it, for it points to peace at any price as the goal to which our country should aspire; and our enemies, who often appraise us at our real value better than we do ourselves, know well that we have not got as far as that. We must continue to work; it is for France."

POOR PROSPECTS.

An Unpromising Outlook for the Nationalists.

DUBLIN, September 18.—Dillon, in an interview to-day, said that it was impossible to deny the gravity of the situation, and that the outlook for the coming winter was a gloomy one. Balfour was apparently determined to get all the Nationalist leaders into the clutches of the law, and he (Dillon) would not be surprised if in a month or so the majority of the leaders, including himself, were found picking oakum. The Government's persistency in forcing the Coercion act would be certain to lead to trouble.

THE CHOLERA.

Terrible Ravages in Italy—Great Distress.

ROME, September 18.—The cholera afflicting the inhabitants of Messina is of a most violent character, death frequently ensuing an hour after the attack. The mortality is now confined to the lower classes, and there is great misery among the people. Gravediggers refuse to pursue their calling until compelled to by troops. The epidemic has appeared in the prisons. The true state of affairs has not yet been made public. It is reported that many new cases of cholera are occurring in Rome daily.

THE FISHERIES COMMISSION.

Queen Victoria Pleased at MacDonald's Appointment.

OTTAWA, Ont., September 18.—It is understood that an imperial dispatch has been received here which states that her Majesty has been greatly pleased to learn that Sir John MacDonald has been appointed Canada's representative on the Fisheries Commission. A final decision has not yet been arrived at, although it is understood that the Premier's colleagues are strongly urging him to accept the position.

Reporters Attacked.

DUBLIN, September 18.—There was a meeting of Nationalists at Bandon to-day. The Government reporters were not molested, but the representatives of the Cork Constitution and the Illustrated London News were roughly handled until the speakers intervened in their behalf.

Renewed Rioting.

BELFAST, September 18.—A party of Orangemen, while passing through Greencastle last night, had an encounter with the Nationalist residents. Three policemen who tried to quell the disturbance were driven away and stoned. A force of police sent from here restored order and arrested the participants.

Fighting for His Mother.

PARIS, September 18.—Maurice Bernhardt to-day severely wounded a journalist named Alexis, who has written an article reflecting on Mme. Bernhardt.

Hanlan's Movements.

LONDON, September 18.—Hanlan, the oarsman, has arrived at Auckland, New Zealand.

Murder.

TEHACHAPI CITY, September 18.—Gus Winn, an old resident of Kern county, was shot with a Winchester rifle and killed, on the 16th, by James Rice. The coroners's jury charges Rice with the murder and he is under arrest.

Departure of the Veterans.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—The Veteran Firemen of New York left by the Central Pacific this evening homeward bound. To-day was spent in an excursion around the bay tendered them by the exempt firemen of this city.

Washed Out Again.

YUMA, A. T., September 18.—There is another washout at Dos Palmos, west of here, and the trains are unable to proceed. It is still raining here. The damage is not yet ascertained. The section men are out.

Catholic Ceremonies.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—The ceremony of consecration was performed upon twenty young ladies, members of the Children of Mary's Sodality in St. Francis church this afternoon.

Meeting of Knights of Pythias.

Badly Hurt.

FRESNO, September 18.—Mrs. Mary Attison was thrown from a buggy today and had three ribs broken.

DAILY HERALD.

THE NICHOLS DITCH.

What the People Think of its Maintenance.

A MIASMATIC INCUBATOR.

People Who Think the Nuisance Should be Abated at Once.

The condition of the Nichols Ditch is attracting considerable attention and it is likely to attract more, unless something is done to abate the nuisance it creates very shortly. A representative of the HERALD visited the ditch yesterday and found that its condition had not been misrepresented. It is certainly one of the worst menaces to health that has been allowed to exist in a civilized community for some time. It makes its appearance in the open air on Ingraham street about a hundred feet from the intersection of Pearl street and throughout its whole course to the reservoir it is a continuous mass of miasmatic slime. As a breeder of disease, mosquitoes, and stench it is without an equal and it is no wonder that the residences along its course contain many cases of typhoid fever. In December of 1885, notice of intention to establish the grade of Ingraham street was adopted by the City Council, and during the same month the resolution establishing the grade was adopted and published. Here the matter dropped, instead of taking the usual course, and the citizens in that vicinity are still wondering why proposals of bids for grading were not advertised for by the Council, as usual in such cases. The property-owners say that the reason why the street has not been graded is because the Nichols ditch interferes, and the street could not be graded without either piping or filling it in. The ditch runs for about a hundred feet along one side of the street in the open air, and then it crosses the street diagonally to the opposite side, where it continues its course a short distance, and then enters private property skirting the base of the hills. This diagonal crossing of the street absolutely prevents the passage of teams along the street, and since the street is a public highway, the property-owners of that neighborhood think that the Superintendent of Streets should be directed to remove obstructions at once. The residents in the neighborhood admit that some steps are being taken by the Council to pipe the ditch, but they claim that if the present slow rate of progress is kept up they will be in their graves before relief comes. One gentleman said yesterday that the bid which was sent in a short time since should have been accepted even if it was a trifle higher than it ought to have been. "It would have been better for the city to pay a little more money for constructing the pipe and laying it, than to render itself liable to heavy damages for sickness and perhaps death. We have as much right to sue the city for damages as we would a private individual, and the city has no more right to maintain a nuisance than an individual. We claim that if one of us should have such an unhealthful nuisance in our yards it would have been abated long since or else we would have gone to jail. It is a pity that the responsible parties in this case cannot be made to abate the nuisance or do the same. The Health Officer has declared the same to be a nuisance but the Board of Health took no action in ordering it abated immediately. If it cannot be piped inside of a week it should be filled in and the water let out until the piping is ready. The health of the people is of more importance than the $60 worth of water which is sold each month. We pay more in one day for doctor's bills and medicines than the ditch pays to the city in a month, and the least that could be done would be to turn the water off and fill in the ditch until the pipe is laid. It is stated that under the law a ditch cannot be abandoned, but filling it up temporarily would not be abandoning it, and if any one is to suffer let it be those who use the water to keep a few blades of grass green some blocks further down. The lives of our children are of more importance than the grass of those persons, and we want relief immediately. If we don't get it we will fill the ditch in ourselves and abate the nuisance as fast as it is recreated. Something must be done immediately."

Another resident was equally emphatic in his remonstrance against this nuisance. He said that it was probable that a showing would be made before the Council to-day which would astonish its members and incite them to immediate action. He hoped that the residents of the vicinity would turn out in force to-day. It was his intention to convince the Council that the water should be turned off and the ditch filled in until the piping is ready. After the pipe is laid he did not care how much the water sold for or who used it, but at present he did not see how the Board of Health could permit a continuous pool of stagnant water with its surface of slime to stay in existence for even a day. Even if bids are received to-day it will be several weeks before the work of piping will be done, and those weeks will be sufficient to kill fifty children and grown people. "It is a pity that in a city so beau iful and healthy as Los Angeles there should be allowed to exist for a single instant such a death-dealing nuisance as the Nichols ditch."

This opinion represented in mild language that of everybody along the whole line of the ditch, and it is probable that a vigorous protest will be made in Council to-day.

Bids will be received to-day for the construction and laying of the pipe in the ditch, and it is hoped that the piping will be hastened as much as possible.

The Lyon Case.

On Saturday the charges of indecent exposure and assault to rape against T. Lyon, of Boyle Heights, were investigated before Justice Austin with closed doors, and, after hearing the complaining witnesses, dismissed. There was found to be no foundation for the charges and Mr. Lyon feels justly injured at the indignity put upon him. Prior to this charge he bore an irreproachable character and has been respected by all who knew him, including a number of the best citizens, who are pleased that the charges proved to be without foundation.

THE TAX-LEVY.

Proceedings of the State Board of Equalization.

So much interest is taken here in the valuation of Los Angeles property, and the action of the State Board of Equalization, that the proceedings of that body had on the 13th inst. reported verbatim below will be read carefully by all tax-payers in the county. It cannot be disguised here that the action of Mr. Dunn will be viewed with disappointment by hosts of his warm friends here. While no one will question the honest intentions of the Controller, many will wish he had been better qualified to sit as a member of the State Board of Equalization, so far as a knowledge of our property goes. His statement that Los Angeles has for years escaped paying its just portion of State taxes is peculiar, to say the least. This county has always paid much more in proportion to the real value of the property than San Francisco, Alameda, Santa Clara or San Mateo counties. Mr. Dunn doubtless does not know this; but as doubtlessly he ought to know it.

Following is the proceedings referred to:

Mr. Gaffey moved that Los Angeles be reduced to $80,000,000.

Seconded by Mr. Wilcoxson, who stated that he seconded the motion for the purpose of bringing the matter before the Board.

Motion lost. Ayes—Gaffey, Sloss; noes—Dunn, Wilcoxson, Morehouse.

Mr. Gaffey then moved that it be reduced to $85,000,000.

Seconded by Sloss. Lost by the same vote.

Mr. Dunn now stated that if the Board would postpone action until the afternoon session, and vote on the counties alphabetically, he might vote for a very slight reduction in Los Angeles county.

To this Mr. Gaffey agreed.

At the afternoon session, when the Board was called to order, Mr. Dunn stated that he would not agree to reduce Los Angeles county if Alameda or San Francisco were raised; that he thought Mr. Mason had made a good assessment, and that the county of Los Angeles had for years escaped paying its just portion of the State tax; that he felt like sustaining Mr. Mason, as he could not figure out the county as assessed at over 64 per cent.; that Mr. Mason was a sworn officer and had testified before this Board that he had assessed Los Angeles county at a very conservative cash value. Mr. Gaffey called attention to the fact that the members of the Board of Supervisors were also sworn officers, just as good men as Mr. Dunn thought Mr. Mason to be, and men of much larger experience in public affairs, and equally entitled to belief by the Board. Mr. Dunn again stated that if Alameda or San Francisco were raised, he would not vote for any reduction; that he believed Mr. Mason had tried to do his duty, and if there was not a slight doubt in his mind, he would not vote to reduce. However, he thought if San Francisco and Alameda were not raised, he would vote for a slight reduction.

When Los Angeles was reached in its proper order, Mr. Gaffey moved that it be reduced 20 per cent. Seconded by Mr. Sloss. Lost. Ayes: Sloss, Gaffey. Noes: Dunn, Morehouse, Wilcoxon. Mr. Gaffey then moved that it be reduced 15 per cent. Seconded by Mr. Sloss. Lost. Ayes: Gaffey, Sloss. Noes: Morehouse, Dunn, Wilcoxon. Mr. Gaffey then moved that it be reduced 10 per cent. Carried. Ayes: Gaffey, Sloss, Dunn. Noes: Morehouse, Wilcoxon.

Dr. Fay's Sermon.

Rev. Eli Fay held "Harvest Home" services at the opera house at 11 A. M. yesterday. The opera house was crowded and the stage was beautifully decorated with the products of the soil. After the usual services and several fine pieces of appropriate music by the choir had been rendered, Dr. Fay took occasion to announce his reasons for not taking stock in the projected hotel on Tenth street. When asked to take stock in the hotel, Dr. Fay said, he enquired as to whether it was to be run without a bar and was told that on the contrary it was to be fitted up with a first-class bar, where all kinds of liquors would be kept on sale. On learning this he refused to be connected with it. "I have always believed in the temperance cause," continued Dr. Fay, "and from this stand I have advocated temperance and to take stock in anything from which I might derive a revenue by the sale of intoxicating drinks would brand me as hypocrite."

(The Doctor will not refuse to accept the advance in price on his property consequent upon the erection of a hotel.)

Dr. Fay chose for his text Luke 16: 16—"The Kingdom of God." During the course of his remarks Rev. Fay spoke of God's handiwork appearing in all things; the wonderful mechanism of the brain which causes one molecule to invent a machine; another to compose a grand poem; while another evolves a beautiful painting, is but the expression of God's will through the brain. This effort by modern scientists to shut God out from having aught to do with the progress of the world of thought is an effort to rob us of the most beautifnl sentiments of life. It is well enough to let scientists study the workings of nature, but there are some things they can never make the conscientious believe. Thousands of brave men and noble women have laid down their lives rather than give up their cherished faith in God. All things that men have said are but echoes from God individualized; all of man's inventions, from the mighty Corliss engine to the delicate mechanism of a lady's time-piece; all of man's discoveries and their applications can be traced to one force, and the quintessence of that force is spirit. A floating palace on its way to Liverpool, a train of cars speeding across the continent, a message flashing around the world, are but tokens that as the years speed on man understands more and more of the wonderful workings of God's creation.

The Doctor continued, that he could not see why more stigma should be placed upon the minister who goes estray than the officers of the law; that no officer could administer the affairs of government aright until he felt that he was acting under the guidance of the King of kings. The church is dependant upon the mill, the plow, the factory, and the salesroom, and all these were dependent upon the church. Everything in God's kingdom went to make up one harmonious whole, and all should work towards elevating man to a higher and better plane of action.

A Humorous Incident.

There was rather a ludicrous incident on the Main-street car line yesterday. A vehicle laden with passengers had stopped to accommodate an arrival, and when all was ready to start up again the driver applied the whip to the animal in the usual manner. The horse jumped forward, but the car followed him not. The traces were broken, and then was to be seen the spectacle of the animal trotting at a rapid rate along the center of the track, evidently pleased at the idea that he had left his burden behind him, while the driver followed in hot pursuit, much to the delight of the would-be passengers, none of whom, luckily, appeared to be in a hurry. The animal was soon caught, however, the traces mended and the incident, humorous as it was to the spectators for the moment, soon forgotten.

The Work Begun.

Work has been begun in this county on the grading of another railroad. As has been frequently announced in these columns, surveyors have been at work in the Tejon cañons, and at last a route has been selected and a force of hands has been put at work. Mr. Goode of this place was employed last Saturday morning to take a four-horse load of Chinamen and tools up the cañon that leads past the old fort, and the same day Del Hill went out with two six-horse loads of shovels, picks, drills, powder and provisions. These gentlemen returned Monday night and report that the camp is established at the head of the cañon near the northern end of Castac Lake, a few miles above the old fort. It is also stated that the surveyors are at work in the valley and are headed for this place.—[Kern County Echo.

We Beat the World.

Mr. H. P. Adams of this city shipped in June last a box of seedling oranges to some relations residing at Geneva, Switzerland, for the purpose of comparing California's product with the Mediterranean fruit. He received a note on Saturday stating that the fruit had arrived fn fine condition and was very much admired. It had been extensively sampled, and the unanimous verdict was that it far surpassed any of the productions there. This too, after a trip across the continent by rail and a three weeks' ocean voyage.

Pickwick Dramatic Club.

A meeting of those interested in the organization of a dramatic club was held Saturday evening. After preliminaries, it was decided to adjourn until Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when the committee on permanent organization and by-laws will report, and officers will be elected. The club starts off with a good membership, having about twenty members enlisted.

Accidentally Shot.

Mr. E. C. Gillibrand, of Antelope valley, was the victim of an unfortunate accident on Saturday evening. While removing a pistol from one pocket to the other it was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through the fleshy part of Mr. Gillibrand's hand. The wounded man arrived in town for medical treatment yesterday.

DECEASED CLERGY.

A Memorial Service Held Yesterday.

A memorial service was held yesterday afternoon in the Fort street M. E. Church in commemoration of the late Bishop W. L. Harris and the deceased clergymen of this conference. The services were conducted by Bishop Walden, who read the twenty-first chapter of Revelations. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. W. Hough, and the committee on memorials presented its written report which was read by Rev. Adam Bland.

Bishop Harris, who died a few days since in his 78th year, was noted as a church educator and parliamentarian. His work as secretary of the General Conference and his books on church discipline are the best the church has, and are everywhere accepted as standard.

Rev. Mr. Garbison followed in a touching eulogy of Bishop Harris. He had been a colleague with deceased many years, and knew him intimately. His remarks were few and choice.

Resolutions were then offered by Rev. Mr. Cherington to the memory of Rev. J. P. Lapham, who died last July. Deceased was a veteran soldier, and entered the ministry after the war, and did efficient work as a church-builder.

Rev. Mr. Green delivered an appropriate eulogy.

Rev. A. M. Hough presented resolutions detailing the life of Rev. E. M. Wheeler, who died in San Diego county in December last, of consumption, at the age of 32 years.

Rev. M. M. Bovard, a co-laborer in the University of Southern California, eulogized Prof. Wheeler.

Appropriate resolutions were also presented, biographically and eulogistically commemorative of Mrs. Thompson, wife of Rev. Mr. Thompson.

Bishop Walden regretted a lack of time to present his views of the late Bishop Harris, with whom he had been associated for more than twenty-five years in church work.

This closed the memorial exercises, which occupied about two hours, which was immediately followed by the ordination of the deacons and elders.

The following named deacons were called to the altar and ordained as deacons: E. J. Inwood, Henry J. Crall, Willis D. Lowder and Ralph S. Badger.

The following were then ordained as elders: G. F. Bovard, C. W. Nelson and W. S. Clinesmith.

FOR ST. LOUIS.

Contributions to be Sent from Los Angeles County.

All day yesterday packers were engaged at the pavilion in assorting and boxing the entire exhibit of the pomological fair, taking such specimens as would bear transportation to the great St. Louis fair and leaving the rest to the care of the exhibitors. The collection gathered up yesterday and delivered to Porter Brothers for shipment to St. Louis will make a full carload. It goes as a county exhibit, and not for the purpose of furthering the interests of one locality over another, but to show the thousands gathered there the pomological and vegetable products of this county. The California contingent need in no wise be ashamed of this magnificent display. The fair has been an entire success as a demonstration of the county products, and the display was a matter of astonishment to the society itself, and far exceeded the most sanguine expectations; but financially it was a failure, to the discredit of Los Angeles. Out of a population of 60,000 in this city, the number attending swelled the receipts from all sources to but $1200, leaving a deficiency of but little short of $1900 for a society composed of not wealthy men to make good. This is not creditable, and the spirit of the city should be aroused to a point of raising enough money to relieve the society from its embarrassment. There are a great many in Los Angeles who are making a business of selling land, presumably for what it will produce. Here is an opportunity for them to assist in an advertising matter to a purpose. Out of our abundance and the number who could contribute the amount should be quickly forthcoming. An effort should be immediately made in that direction. All the fruit selected was without blemish and was carefully wrapped in tissue paper and boxed. It filled a car, and will be sent forward to-day on express train. A good report will be heard from it.

New Hotel at Orange.

Work commenced Wednesday upon a three-story brick hotel in Orange, on the Chubb tract, near the proposed depot of the California Central Railroad. George Bessonette is the contractor, and the brick is to be furnished from his yard at Orange. The new hotel is to be about as large as the Brunswick, of Santa Ana, to contain sixty or sixty-five rooms, and cost in the neighborhood of $60,000. It will be a splendid addition to the progressive town of Orange, and shows the energy and enterprise of her citizens. This hotel will use up about 600,000 bricks.—[Santa Ana Herald.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1887.

The Republican Party Organized.

Never in the history of party politics was there deeper consternation nor more wide-spread astonishment than reigned all along the rank and file of the Republican party when it was defeated in the last National election. The splendid record made by the successful Democratic President since he entered upon the duties of his high office is fast rendering the case of the defeated party desperate. Without a living principle to keep it together, with its eyes in the back of its head, and its heart in the graves of the civil war, with no hold on the present, or real interest in the onward march of the day, the party knows that the next election holds out a very slim, but its one and only hope of a return to power. One more defeat and all that is left to it of a simulacrum of life will be swept away and buried forever.

It is not, therefore, a matter of wonder that the party should be putting forth all efforts to galvanize itself into life for the final struggle. In every message that comes over the wires we read that the Republican party is awakening, and that it is thoroughly organized for the next campaign. Its leaders are trying all sorts of political panaceas and nostrums to heal its diseases and wounds. In its warfare the most noticeable weapon in use is vituperation of President Cleveland, in which his wife is made to share. The whole thing is the silliest, poor stuff which has come to the surface in the hundred years since the constitution was framed. The President and Mrs. Cleveland are watched with the closest espionage. Every unstudied act, word, gesture and look are twisted out of their natural significance and made to appear like deep-laid schemes of slight, disrespect, insult or treason to some one of the many idols, gods of wood or stone, or rag images of the Grand Old party. Even the Grand Army is lugged by the nape of the neck into these silly maunderings of a lot of chagrined politicians whom the public found it desirable to relegate to the seclusion of private life; and the attempt is made to convert an organization whose purposes were altogether beneficent into a mere political machine. Moreover, the channels of public information are changed from their proper use and converted into a poisoned stream of gross misrepresentation and bitter partisan malice. Here is a specimen sent all the way from Washington to a morning contemporary, copyrighted, etc., etc.:

WASHINGTON, September 17.—An Ohioan, who is in this city after spending a few days at the celebration of the birthday of the Constitution at Philadelphia, says that Mrs. Cleveland refused to shake hands with Governor Foraker's wife at the reception last night at Philadelphia. It is said that the Governor and Mrs. Foraker apprehended something of the kind from the President and discussed it, but they finally concluded that he would not be guilty of anything so small, and sure enough when they followed General Beaver, the President held out his hand and cordially shook the hands of both. Mrs. Cleveland turned away and recognized neither of them. This petty exhibition of schoolgirl malice caused not a little talk, although the Philadelphia papers say nothing about it. The President has already had written a letter to New York parties explaining the letter written by his wife. She is likely to prove a weight to his already overburdened administration. Neither Cleveland nor his wife seem great enough to separate personality from the office which has been thrown upon them, and their triumphant marches are, therefore, constant exhibitions of overweening egotisms.

In that alleged budget of news, note there is not one assured fact. The best that can be made out of it is an on-dit. No name is given—nothing to create faith in the thing reported. Besides the whole matter, if true, is of the smallest, most petty imaginable character. It is crammed full of crude and small opinion, of the bitter comment of a little mind, and maunderings befitting nobody so well as an old, disappointed beldame berating some more prosperous neighbor. The channels through which such items come lose their credit as news dispensers; the papers which publish them degrade their columns, and are injustice to the intelligence of their readers. Such channels of public news become simply unreliable party machines, in which news is subordinated to a suborned publication of lies and slander. It will not do. The public is fully awake to such methods and will read between the lines the history of a bad cause which attempts to bolster itself up, regardless of truth and justice; and the public will be misled by no such miserable stuff.

Preparations are all complete, and they are all of the most perfect character in all their details, for the Grand Army Excursion which leaves this city to-morrow for St. Louis. The train will in all respects be a notable one as it sweeps across the continent with our boys in blue, bearing the rich products of the State in plethoric abundance.

DOWNEY CITY will hold its annual agricultural display in that fair burg during the first week in October. Downey can just "take the rag off the bush" in a show of the fruits of the earth of all sorts. The exhibit of fruit and other products of the field and farm on that occasion will be something remarkable and well worth a visit to one of the choicest portions of the county to see it.

SOME of the dudes must be either very bowlegged, or they must have at last become ashamed of their proverbial lack of manly development in the human form divine. The new style of bag-legged pantaloons gives rise to their reflections. Only to hide some physical deformity could such monstrosities ever come into vogue. It is to be hoped that the motive is to conceal the painfully weak underpinning so long the pride of the dude fraternity, that this new departure is made. If that be the reason then we may hope that in the course of nine or ten generations of effort and aspiration the dude in his progeny may reach the full stature of a man. In the meantime it will be hard on him to go on generation after generation wearing the same style of nether garments, and these the bag-legged things of the day.

SOME one has observed that the steam escaping from a locomotive furnishes a very good sort of hygrometer, indicating closely the amount of moisture held suspended in the air. Thus, when the ascending volume of vapor remains visible for a long time, the atmosphere is quite near its point of full saturation. If, on the contrary, the steam is rapidly absorbed and disappears from view, the air is in that case very dry. In the first instance rain may reasonably be expected, but in the latter condition of the atmosphere, a precipitation is not likely to occur. Of course a change in the air currents may almost in a moment reverse these conditions and turn the probabilities the other way. In such a case the next train which passes will note the change. These phenomena are worth observing in the country where instruments of nice construction are not usually to be found.

THE error the Tribune falls into in the following paragraph is ludicrous enough: "It fortunately fell within the power of Governor Waterman to do a most graceful act immediately upon his taking possession of the executive office. His appointment of Mr. Columbus Bartlett, brother to the late Governor, to be Regent of the State University, will be generally regarded as eminently praiseworthy by every man capable of right feeling in such matters. He is a Democrat, to be sure, and Governor Waterman is a decided Republican; but then," etc. The Democracy of Mr. Columbus Bartlett is diaphanous in the extreme. Yes, the "new Governor starts off extremely well" in this respect, and we have not a particle of doubt that he will maintain his record to the last in all his appointments by giving important trusts into the hands of many Democrats of just that peculiar stripe of Democracy worn by Mr. Columbus Bartlett—a most estimable gentleman, by the way, in spite of his unwavering and life-long devotion to the Democratic party!

INFORMATION comes over the water that Parnell is discouraged out of measure by the passage of the Crimes Act; and that he now dispairs of ever attaining any great measure of relief for his people. We do not credit this. The report does not agree with Parnell's reputation for sense or pluck. He has made a splendid fight for a most righteous cause. He has been cool, shrewd and thoroughly parliamentary in all his tactics. A continuance of the great fight on the same line will win in the end. The cause of Ireland was never in more hopeful plight than it is to-day. The more extreme the attitude of the Tory government of England, the nearer is the moment of ultimate triumph. If the Tories temporize, and adopt half measures they may prolong the struggle, and perhaps render Ireland's case hopeless. Their reign of terror as lately inaugurated will force the fighting, and will raise friends in all lands for the cause of the oppressed isle. In England, under the very shadow of the towers of Windsor will spring up ardent backers of the plucky defenders of their rights. The sturdy honesty of the great mass of English toilers, themselves too frequently spurned from the feet of lords and lordlings, will assert itself in favor of their brothers on the other side of the channel. The ties that bind the hearts of the people to crowns, thrones, dominions, hereditary rights and ancient wrongs are by no means strong. It is but a short time since Hyde Park was the scene of more troublous gatherings than any which have yet taken place in Ireland—barring the trouble fomented by the police, which it is noticeable the authorities dare not be guilty of in England.

In the Whole Hideous Catalogue

Of diseases, there were none which, previous to the discovery of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, offered more formidable resistance to the old fashioned modes of treatment than the group of maladies which, under the collective name of malarial disease, afflicted entire communities that suffered hopelessly. Chills and fever, dumb ague, ague cake and bilious remittent were once regarded as well nigh incurable. Now it rejoices the hearts of thousands who reside in districts periodically subject to the visitation of malaria, to feel certain that in the Bitters they possess a certain defense against the scourge, a sure means of expelling its poison from the system. To the settler in the Far West, the new emigrant thither, and to travelers and tourists by land and sea, the possession of this pleasant safeguard is a guaranty of safety from diseases which they might vainly seek from any other source.

DR. LIEBIG & CO.,
SPECIAL PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS,
Of San Francisco.

The above well known and long established specialists will be at 31 NORTH MAIN STREET., Los Angeles, from September 10th to the 20th, 10 days only, where all who are suffering from nervous debility, chronic or complicated diseases, spermatorrhea, impotency, loss of manhood, premature decay, and all complaints resulting from youthful folly, abuse and excesses of maturity, or badly treated cases of special or private nature, will be afforded the opportunity to consult with these celebrated specialists. Consultation free and private.

The Liebig Dispensary for the treatment of all chronic, private and complicated diseases has been established in San Francisco for nearly a quarter of a century. The Dispensary building occupies the entire corner of Geary and Mason streets, San Francisco, and is the only Medical and Surgical Institute on the Pacific coast that has its own elegant drug store in dispensary building, employing registered chemists and scientific surgical instrument makers to manufacture all surgical instruments for the patients of the Liebig Dispensary; also to prepare the celebrated Dr. Liebig's wonderful German Invigorator. To the marvelous cures and discoveries made by Dr. Liebig & Co. are due all the great successes they have had. In 1881 they discovered the complication Prostatorrhoea, resulting from youthful imprudence and excesses of maturity, or unskillfully treated cases of a special nature, that from time immemorial had prevented thousands from being cured of nervous debility, physical weakness and unnatural losses from the system. Dr. Liebig & Co. use every successful remedial agent known to modern scientists favoring the school of Homeopathy and Eclecticism, taking from the Allopathic all that is useful, and adapting surgical instruments to the various ailments and deformities, attaching to appliances, magnetism and electricity. Successful treatment guaranteed in all cases or no fees required.

SURGICAL BRANCH.

The doctors will give personal attention to diseases of the Chest, Head and Throat, Catarrh, diseases of the Liver and Kidneys; also deformities requiring surgical appliances. Balance of treatment conducted from the Liebig Dispensary, San Francisco, Cal.

N.B.—On account of the rapidly increasing practice in San Francisco, this will be the doctor's last visit to Los Angeles.

Public Opinion.

The Republican manufacturers of public opinion, or to speak more correctly, those who are desirous of manufacturing public opinion, are beginning to doubt the value of the bloody shirt as a campaign flag to rally voters with.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer, Dem.

One fact should not be overlooked by our Prohibition friends, and that is that in Mussulman countries, where alcoholic drinks are forbidden by religion, the use of opium is large. This fact is confirmed by an equally singular one in our own land. The largest amount of opium used in any of our cities, is not in New York, or Philadelphia or Boston, but in the small city of Portland, Me., where the sale of liquor is prohibited.—[Utica Herald.

It is very easily understood why Mrs. Cleveland should have declined to go to New York without the President, to present flags to the fire department, but it is hard to understand how the Gothamites committed the blunder of inviting her without inviting her husband. Mrs. Cleveland's sense of propriety, from all points of view of the subject, must be set down as excellent, and her expression of it was at once courteous and pointed.—[Philadelphia North-American.

A better scheme to promote poverty and beggary could not be devised than to take away the incentives and opportunities of individual ownership and make all farmers enforced tenants paying annually the rental value of their lands. To hold that the selling value of lands is a source of evil and hardship nstead of being a prime factor in the progress and prosperity of the country, displays a degree of intellectual strabismus and solid ignorance well calculated to excite sympathy and surprise.—[Chicago Tribune, Rep.

If railroad accidents are to assume any such proportions as did that at Chatsworth, it may become a question whether the State railroad commission within whose jurisdiction they happen, should not supplement the authority of the local coroners. The sinister story is told in railroad circles that the bodies of many of the victims of the Chatsworth disaster, now estimated at 126, were smuggled off the ground under the company's orders as soon as possible. There should be, at least, no more favor shown the corporations in the way of secrecy in this kind than is shown where a single life is taken.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

"Ouida," the extravagant, passed her 50th birthday some time ago, and is still Miss da la Ramee. She is rather masculine in figure, and from much exposure to wind and weather her face, including her nose, has become decidedly rubicund. Her "amber hair," which she used to wear flowing over her shoulders, in the style she favored in her earlier novels, is cut short, pushed back from her forehead and confined with a narrow ribbon. On festive occasions she wears white velvet, a favorite material of hers, judging from the frequency with which she arrays her heroines in it, but ordinarily she is dressed in the most dowdy English style. She lives with her mother in a villa situated about four miles from Florence, which is literally crammed with all sorts of choice and artistic possessions —old embroideries, antique gold and silver brocades, fine old porcelains, bronzes, pictures, etc. In fact, it is said that she has sunk most of the large sums that she has received for her late novels in the purchases. She is also extravagantly fond of dogs, and is always accompanied in her daily walks by some ten or fifteen of these canine pets, which are usually of the largest possible size. Also she delights in driving in a high dog-cart at a tremendous rate of speed, and has been more than once fined for too rapid driving.

FACTS ABOUT FULLERTON.

Fullerton is a town site on the San Diego division of the Santa Fé Railroad, twenty-three miles southwest of Los Angeles and three miles north of Anaheim. It is a regular station on that railway and all trains will stop there.

ADVANTAGES.

Fullerton has the most productive country tributary to it of any new town site laid out in Southern California; the country around is noted for its fertile soil and the great abundance of water. The water is derived from the Anaheim ditch, which, as is well known, is the most copious supply in Southern California. Oranges grow to the greatest perfection. The famous Gilman ranch adjoins the town site of Fullerton. The Gilman place is the "show" walnut grove in the State, visitors being taken there from all parts of the country and shown it as a sample of what can be done in the way of having a perfect walnut grove. Oranges and limes from this section are noted throughout the State as being the finest produced anywhere, and commanding the top market price.

Land in the vicinity of Fullerton is still at a very reasonable figure, as the country is comparatively little known, being at present out of the way of the general line of travel. With the advent of the Santa Fé Railroad, which is expected within ninety days, property will advance very materially, as it will then first be introduced to many seeking productive land at lower prices than that asked for in and about Pasadena.

OSTRICHES.

The original and largest ostrich farm is only one mile from the town, and is a great source of interest to tourists. One hundred ostriches may be counted.

COMMONWEALTH AVENUE

runs through the center of the town, one hundred feet wide and ten miles long. This will be one of the finest avenues in the Southern country. Lined with umbrageous shade-trees, and the soil is naturally adapted to road-making, packing as hard as asphalt, and never dusty or muddy.

ASPHALTUM.

Immense deposits of oil and asphaltum occur in the neighborhood.

PRICES OF LAND.

Ordinary land without water can be purchased for from $75 to $200 per acre; best land with water at $350 to $700 per acre, and there is but little doubt that all this land will sell readily at $1000 per acre within six months from date.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE TOWN OF FULLERTON.

A $25,000 hotel is now in course of erection and will be finished within ninety days; two other $10,000 brick buildings are now contracted for and will be finished within the same time. A bank with $100,000 capital is incorporated, and will put up a $15,000 pressed-brick building immediately. Quite a number of houses are now in course of construction and many lots have been sold conditionally upon brick buildings being erected thereon immediately.

A cement sidewalk six feet wide is now being laid upon all the principal streets; water piped in heavy iron pipes and under good pressure through the streets.

PRICES OF LOTS.

Lots range in price from $150 to $700; all streets are graded and there is not an undesirable lot in the entire town site, as the ground is perfectly level, with a slight fall from the foothills.

SOIL.

CLIMATE.

Fullerton being but eight eight miles from the ocean, gets the sea breeze much sooner than towns on the other side of the foothill, thus producing a low temperature in summer, and at the same time the proximity to the ocean causes a more equal and warmer temperature in winter.

Fullerton has the best soil, the best water, the best climate, the largest and most productive territory tributary to it, the best railroad facilities, and there is more cash being expended in it on permanent improvements than on any new town in Southern California.

A SEA GULL'S STRATAGEM.

"I had a very singular experience last Sunday," said a tradesman, whose shop in Oakland is adorned by the sign, "Ornithological Rarities," but who, on a pinch, would sell a dog or a rabbit. "I was walking on the beach not very far from the Cliff House, and I had just noticed that an unusually large number of sea gulls were flying over the sands, when a hard substance struck me violently upon the head staggering me. Luckily my hat was very thick and I am blessed with a tolerably solid skull. So I soon recovered myself, and I was looking about to ascertain what had hit me, when I was greatly startled by a weird and ghostly fluttering of wings a foot above me. A great gray gull had narrowly escaped alighting upon my shoulders. He just succeeded in checking his impetuous descent as his feet almost touched me. With a queer kind of half-frightened cry he was again in the air. But what had brought him so close to me? I soon found out. Lying on the sand was the thing that had given me the blow upon the head. It was a large black mussel, and the sea gull had dropped it from a dizzy height upon my unoffending scalp. I have studied the habits of these birds pretty carefully, and I knew very well why he had done it. He was trying to get at his dinner, and as the shell of the mussel was still unbroken and I wished to see him try again, I walked a couple of hundred yards away and then turned to watch his movements. Seeing that the coast was clear, he quickly flew back to the place where the mussel had fallen, seized it in his beak, and, again rising high into the air, he let it drop. He followed it closely as it fell, keeping almost beside it during the greater part of the descent, and only moderating his downward rush when he was in danger of dashing himself upon the beach. The mussel struck the sand, but the shell was still unbroken, and, indeed, it was very evident to me that the soft ground that received it would never lay it open. Then I flung the mussel to a distance, and the gull, seeming to take this as a hint that my head was not a chopping block, seized his troublesome delicacy and flew away. I saw him turn a little inland, rise once more to a great height, dart swiftly down and then wing his way out to sea. I found that many stones lay at the place of his last descent; so, doubtless, his perseverance was at length rewarded and he had gone off to some lonely rock to dine."—[San Francisco Examiner.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

BORROWED PLUMAGE.

How Ladies at Long Branch and Saratoga Wear Diamonds.

In a small jewelry store there escaped the solution of a secret that has puzzled many this season. No one going to Long Branch has failed to notice the plenty of diamonds on ordinarily-dressed women. This jeweler's store is insignificant, but he has a good watch repairer, whose services are often enlisted to tinker damaged mainsprings or fractured crystals. But if the exhibition of goods is modest, the natty little proprietor can take out of his pocket any day a handful of fine diamonds. As I stood advising with him relative to a mainspring that had gone off that morning like an insane coffee-mill or a lunatic alarm clock, a dapper man came in and handed over some cases. The new comer produced a notebook and read:

"Mrs. Jones wants that aigrette for Thursday night, and Miss Smith will take a solitaire ring and ear-rings for the week for $10."

"Can't do it," said Mr Sparks; "not less than $20."

So the man wrote it down in his book. Then he paid so much for Mrs. Jones, so much for Miss White and Mrs. Brown.

"The Browns go to Saratoga," he said, "and will have both those sets for week after next; so don't let 'em for more than this week."

Here I got interested, and asked: "Do you let out jewelry?"

"I should say so," said he. "I must have $100,000 worth of stones on hire in Long Branch and Saratoga this season."

"Isn't it risky?"

"Oh, bless you, I have security. The lady who had this set" (he took one of the returned cases and showed a splendid pair of ear-rings and a bar pin) "left a treasury note of $1000 as collateral. I have an agent in both places to look after my interests, and I assure you it is a paying branch of my business."—[Chicago Herald.

Rebuking the Teacher.

A number of Dakota counties have lady Superintendents of Schools. While one of them was recently making the rounds of the schools, in accordance with law, she drove up to one little school-house on the prairie at about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and found the scholars all out playing about the yard. Two of the boys were indulging in a fight, another pair were learning to chew tobacco, while the others were playing marbles for keeps and adjusting an old but large and corpulent tea-kettle to a dog's tail. The Superintendent learned that there had been school so far that day, and when she went into the school-house she said to the young teacher somewhat severely:

"Is this the kind of a school you are teaching? I feel I shall be obliged to cancel your certificate and have you removed from the school."

"Why—why—I—I—didn't know you were coming!"

"Ah, that's just it, I know you didn't—but I did come and caught you. I shall be obliged to ask you to hand in your resignation immediately."

"But—but, Miss Rhetorick, let me explain. I—"

"I don't think you can make any satisfactory explanation, as I noticed you were sitting here reading when I came in."

"But that's just it—I was reading the New York Style and Fashion, and—"

"The Style and Fashion? What, the September number?"

"Yes."

"My goodness! I didn't know it had come yet—let me see it, please—I'm just dying to know how to make my new polenaise! Say, you ought to see that lovely piece of summer goods that I got at Noprofit & Slaughter's—it's just too sweet for anything. Isn't that a love of a wrapper—I'm going to have one like it—or no, I believe I like this best. I don't know, either, they're both perfectly lovely!" Etc., etc., and so forth.—[Dakota Bell.

THE INNER MAN.

Places Where it May be Satisfied in Los Angeles.

"Where shall we dine?" is a question almost as hackneyed as the one referring to the weather, and to the epicurean mind it is a matter of grave import. The custom of taking a slight lunch in the middle of the day, just sufficient to appease the pangs of hunger and leaving the principal feast until after business hours are over, is gradually growing in favor throughout the country, and bids fair to become universally adopted. It certainly strikes one as being by far the best plan, as apart from the fact that very few can give that time to a hearty meal in the middle of the day, which good digestion demands, it must also not be forgotten that in a tropical or semi-tropical climate it is scarcely judicious to load the stomach with a heavy meal during the heat of the day. But in the evening all is different. A cool, delicious temperature, such as only Angeleños experience, where one can sit with half-open windows and inhale the pure air of the outer world, a table laden with the luxuries which nature in this southern country places before us, and what can one wish for more. Perchance the diner is not a temperance advocate, and if this be the case look near his right hand and you will see a bumper laden with the ruby juice wrought from the fruitful vineyards which surround the City of the South. And wine can be obtained at very little cost if one deals directly with the producers, though even in the first-class restaurants the prices are not exorbitant twenty-five cents per pint being the usual rate for California wines of good quality, ordinary or table drink being generally furnished without extra charge as part and parcel of the more solid refreshments. The French dinner, so called from the style of cuisine, is daily becoming more and more popular and is generally furnished at the rate of fifty cents per capita. Soup, fish, a salad, two or three entrees, a roast, pastry, cheese, black coffee and fruit is usually the order of things, and judging by the serene expressions of those who have been indulging in a "little dinner," proves as a rule very satisfactory to the inner man s requirements. Then there are the hotels, into which the diner may saunter, the usual price per meal at the first-class establishments being 75 cents without wine, and a very liberal table is usually set forth by the city's Bonifaces.

For the sons of toil and those whose income will not permit an outlay of more than 25 cents, there are over fifty restaurants where well cooked and well-served meats may be obtained at all hours of the day and night, and most of these establishments furnish a pint of wine to each visitor, without extra charge. Boarding by contract is an institution common to all cities, and by purchasing a ticket, 21 meals can be obtained for $5, and in some places for $4.50. Of late restaurants are being established where good substantial meals may be obtained for 15 and 20 cents each.

Among the visitors to the Club Theater last evening were two individuals who were evidently determined to enjoy themselves in a true Kilkenny fashion. They managed to make things very lively in their vicinity, and one of the proprietors of the establishment approached them and endeavored to quiet them down. His remarks called forth a remonstrance from Bolan in the shape of a severe blow from a stick, and a general melee immediately ensued, which was interrupted by the arrival of Constable Brady. He immediately waded into the scene of gore and arrested the two offenders, but they were not disposed to go quietly and he had to procure more assistance and after a hard struggle the prisoners were mastered. They fought desperately all the way during their journey to the fort on the hill, where they registered as C. J. Bolan and Michael Kelly, and were shown sleeping apartments which they immediately entered, and when last heard from were singing sweetly Sir Arthur Sullivan's refrain:

"Taken to the county jail
By a set of curious chances," etc.

A Sorry Jest.

Officers Methvin and Stevenson were indulging in a few moments intellectual conversation with each other on First street, below Main, last night, when two hilarious-looking individuals came surging slowly down the thoroughfare. There was something about the officers that attracted the attention of the itinerants, and being desirous of having a little fun, they approached the star-bearers, and with all the pomp and majesty of "the finest," directed them to move on. The officers were startled at this unusual request, and instead of complying, told their visitors who they were and advised them to be careful. The hilarious ones were not disposed to have their little joke treated in such a manner, however, and a vigorous debate took place, one of the points being made particularly forcible by the introduction of a right-hander which Officer Methvin received above his right eye. War having been thus openly declared the officers sailed right in, and as a result James O'Dea and John Doe passed the remainder of the night in the City Prison, and will have an opportunity to explain their conduct before Justice Austin this morning.

Man Up a Tree.

EDITORS HERALD — Upon arriving home from Long Beach to-day I found that a huge grizzly had a man up a tree at the new iron mines all night. The man went to a spring near by for water and a little dog he had sniffed a bear in the brush and went for him, but this was too small game for his majesty. So he went for the man and as good fortune happened a tree stood near easy to climb and the man sprang into it and saved his bacon by a scratch. He says he never thought so sincerely of his latter end in his life as he did while going up the tree. The bear must have been very large for at times during the night he would look up the tree and gape, and the man says he believes if he had fallen into his mouth he would have gone down his throat without stopping. He says he don't know whether he wants any iron mines or not. JNO. LANG.

Gen. Miles' Good Sword.

A graceful and well-deserved honor is that bestowed upon General Nelson A. Miles by his Arizona admirers, in the presentation of a superb oramental gold sword.

Soon after the ending of the campaign, a popular subscription was started to raise $1000 for the purpose of presenting General Miles with a testimonial sword. The subscriptions were confined to civilians within the boundaries of Arizona. The amount was readily raised and could easily have been trebled.

The shield of the guard of the sword is formed by three eagle heads and out-spread wings, signifying protection; on one of the wings, and caught by a few feathers, are the initials "N. A. M.," modeled after a study of the Arizona cactus, and on the other wing the letters "U. S.," in the same treatment.

The guard is formed of eagle feathers, around which is entwined the American flag, and at the end finished by a portrait head of the Indian Chief Natchez. The extreme top of the hilt is covered with Indian ornaments in which is set a large sapphire asteria, weighing fifty-six and a half carets. This stone, according to East Indian tradition, gives courage to the wearer and preserves him from evil spirits. In front of this top is an eagle whose wings encircle it, who holds in his extended talons the pipe and a tomahawk, emblems of peace and war.

The grip is of white enamel banded with the fine lines of beaded gold. On the blade appears in relief on one side, "General Nelson A. Miles;" on the other side, "Presented September 4th, 1887, at Tucson, Arizona."

The scabbard, which is of solid gold, is decorated with Indian scenes, commencing with a representation of an Indian camp and reservation, a consultation of officers, a start of infantry and cavalry in pursuit of Apaches, a surprise of Indians in ambush, the fight, the capture of Geronimo, and the taking of captives to the railroad station for transportation back to the reservation. The reverse side of the scabbard bears the inscription: "Presented by the people of Arizona, in grateful acknowledgment of distinguished services in the capture and removal of Geronimo and the hostile Apaches."

The toe, or extreme end of the scabbard, is a carefully modeled portrait of Chief Geronimo. The entire sword, with the exception, of course, of the blade, is of gold of a subdued color, or what is termed nugget finish.

The sword was manufactured by Tiffany & Co., who have made many rich presentation swords, and they state that in real artistic excellence it is one of the best, if not the very best, they have made.—[Leslie's Newspaper.

The Old Story.

Messrs. J. G. Crawford, R. G. Forsythe and L. P. Curtis, from Oakland, Ill., arrived here Monday evening from their Eastern home to visit their friend M. F. McConkey and see a little of the golden country of which they have heard so much. Yesterday Mack took them down to Riverside and out on the famous Magnolia avenue, and last evening they decided to make this their future home, and after spending a few weeks in visiting Southern California, they will return to Illinois and settle their affairs preparatory to locating in this land of roses. We are glad to have them come, as they are enterprising, substantial business men and make the kind of citizens we want.—[San Bernardino Index.

The "Aggie's" Cruise.

A dispatch from San Diego to the HERALD last night bears the information that the "yacht Aggie, Captain Dan McFarland, with a party of Angeleños, arrived in the bay of San Diego yesterday afternoon, after a splendid run from San Pedro. As the "Aggie" left San Pedro late Saturday night, the sail southward must have been of the most pleasant character. The jolly party aboard is certainly much to be envied in their delightful experience aboard the elegant little yacht.

THE NEVADA BANK.

How Much it is Involved in the Wheat Deal.

The San Francisco papers are publishing broadsides full of figures and facts—so called—as to the amount of money the Nevada Bank is involved by the great Dresbach wheat deal. It is well known that the bank is instant in the denial that it is involved at all. Knowing that the public are intensely interested in the matter, a HERALD reporter, learning that Mr. W. W. Moreland, one of the bank commissioners, is in the city and stopping at the Nadeau, last night secured an interview with him on this topic, the results of which are given below. Mr. Moreland states that the Commission made a careful inspection as to the affairs of the Nevada Bank in May and September, and that on July 1st the bank rendered a sworn statement to the Commission. In reply to the question, "How did the bank stand at the time of your last visit?" Mr. Moreland said:

The Bank Commissioners examined the affairs of the Nevada Bank as they stood at the close of business on the 8th of September. As various rumors had been afloat as to the amount of money that institution had loaned to certain parties engaged in the buying of wheat, during this year and prior to the 25th of August, they paid particular attention to that class of loans, and to the amount of warehouse receipts for wheat deposited by borrowers to secure payment of money borrowed by them from the bank. They allowed the bank the sum of $20 per ton for the wheat pledged, and a reasonable amount for the ships, lands, mortgages, coal etc., pledged by the parties who borrowed the money, and after such allowance found that John Rosenfeld owed the bank $661,000 which was not secured, and also found that Wm. Dresbach owed them $527,000 which was not secured. They also found about $47,000 of debts of other parties which was not, in the opinion of the Commissioners, amply secured. They, therefore, informed the vice-president, Mr. Brander, that they proposed to write off the sum of $1,236,000 from the assets of the bank. Mr. Brander thereupon said that the stockholders of the bank, rather than see that amount written off, and the standing of the bank affected, would make up and pay in to the bank the amount of losses on the wheat as found by the Commission, to-wit: $1,189,000, which was done in the presence of the Commission, and the accounts fixed so as to show the proper credits. The sum of $47,000 spoken of above was not made good and the Commissioners therefore wrote it off of the assets of the bank.

Question—What about the statement that Charles F. Reed guaranteed the payment of over $6,000,000 to the bank, borrowed from it by Dresbach?

Answer—We found one note of Dresbach's to the bank for the sum of $50,000 endorsed by Reed, and that is the only paper signed by Reed, to my recollection, which we found in the bank. We certainly found no note or notes or guarantees of Reed's to the bank for Dresbach for the sum of $6,000,000, or any other sum except the $50,000 spoken of above. Any banker will tell you, after looking at the statements of that bank for May, June and September, that it would be impossible for it to loan out of the legitimate assets of the bank the additional sum of $6,000,000 to any person or persons. It would more than exhaust its resources to do so. My own opinion is that the sum of $1,189,000 spoken of above is the total amount that bank lost on the wheat deal, provided, of course, our calculations as to the value of securities is correct.

Ques.—What was the total amount borrowed by Rosenfeld and Dresbach from the bank, as found by your examination?

Ans.—Mr. Rosenfeld owed on that day, without interest, storage, insurance, etc., the sum of $1,540,000. Of that amount $500,000 was secured by a gentleman whom we considered good. Of the balance we considered $379,000 amply secured, and $661,000 not secured. I do not remember the exact amount Dresbach owed, but I think it was about $885,000. Of that amount we considered $527,000 not secured.

BISHOP WALDEN.

His Able Sermon at the Fort Street M. E. Church.

There was a large concourse of people present at the Fort street M. E. Church yesterday morning, to hear the regular annual conference sermon of Bishop John M. Walden. He chose for his text Romans viii, 28: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose." "The epistle of the Romans," began the reverend divine, "is the most marked part of the Scripture. It is a clear, comprehensive discussion of the plan of salvation. It seems to me that this 8th chapter has more fine gospel in it than any other part of the word of God, and this 28th verse appears to be the most distinctive. It makes an impression at once upon our minds. This sense is often construed as showing that a special Providence controls and rules our lives. The constant interposition of God in the affairs of men is taught in the Scriptures. There are many illustrations in the Bible showing that God shapes and controls the affairs of men. In a very marked way is this shown in Matthew, where it is proven that God has a special care over his people. "Every hair in your head is numbered." Every where we find that God has an especial care over his children. The text, however, has a different meaning, not that God overrules all, but that He has so constituted things that everything works together for good to them that love Him. But some one says, then is God in favor of a class? Is not this contrary to the teachings that God is no respecter of persons? It might seem so at first; but what is the teaching of this text in the words "to them that love him?" They outline a definite character. He does discriminate in respect to character. Things are so constituted that this is true. We find that the man who plows, sows, cultivates and harvests his crop at the right time is the one who reaps the benefit. It makes no difference whether he be German, English French or any other nationality. In business the man who is careful, prompt and attentive is the one who succeeds. Moral character becomes a force. Study the simple faith of the early Christians. Moral character is no small thing. Faith is an element in moral character; hope is a stronger one than faith, and love is still greater, for of "faith, hope and love the greatest of these is love." There is in love a potent factor that makes it a power. Things work for good. What is for our good? We don't always know. We only see it from the human side,

Brethren, as we go forth preaching let us preach close to the cross. This is the place where I can prepare for a home hereafter. My friends, are you here without love to God? Do I speak to one who does not have the hope and love? Christ is pleading for you—"son, daughter, give me thy heart." What does he want with that heart? He wants to put it in a right relation with all things, that they may work together for good to them that love God, and that your life may become one glorious success.

HEBREW NEW YEAR.

Its Celebration in this City Commenced.

Yesterday evening the commencement of the Hebrew New Year, 5648, was celebrated in the usual style at the Synagogue and at Masonic Hall. Both places of worship were well filled at six o'clock, when all united in offering prayers to the Supreme Ruler, asking that all erring mortals may be blessed with happiness and prosperity and that the country and the inhabitants thereof may be free of all the ills which affict mankind. At the synagogue on Fort street the services were conducted by Rabbi Dr. Schreiber and Rev. A. W. Edelman presided at Masonic Hall. In the evening the Jewish citizens exchanged the compliments of the season and the year appeared to have been ushered in to them under the most favorable auspices. This morning Rabbi Schreiber will lecture at the Synagogue on "A New Year's Celebration of the Returned Exiles." Masters Fleishman, Lowenstein and Meyer will be confirmed and the musical exercises will be under the leadership of Professor Loeb. At Masonic Hall Rev. Mr. Edelman will lecture this morning on "Reflections on the Old and New Year." To-morrow morning he will lecture on "Rosh-hahana as a Day of Memorial." Large attendances are expected at these services, which will be very interesting.

The Three Guardsmen.

Edward Thorne will open at the Grand Opera house to-night in the Three Guardsmen, which he thinks will be as great a success as the Black Flag, which he gave a short time since. He has brought the scenery and costumes from San Francisco, and promises that the stage appointments will be as perfect as those of his former piece. While he has never given the Three Guardsmen here, he has played it at Niblo's Garden, New York, for eight weeks, in Boston for four weeks, at the Chestnut-street theater, Philadelphia, three weeks, and at the Alcazar theater, San Francisco, two weeks. Besides this piece, Mr. Thorne will present the Ticket-of-Leave Man, in which he has taken the part of "Bob Brierly" in all of the principal cities of the East. Miss Rose Harrison, the leading lady, will play the part of "Constance," in the Three Guardsmen, and "May Edwards" in the Ticket-of-Leave Man.

A Runaway.

M. Newmark left his horse and buggy standing in front of his store on Los Angeles street, near Requena, yesterday afternoon, and the animal became frightened at a passing vehicle. He broke his hitching-strap and started down the street at a breakneck pace, but before he had proceeded very far he ran into a pile of beer barrels. He fell down and broke his leg, and it is likely that he will have to be shot.

News Notes.

Frank Breed, formerly of Jamestown, N. Y., will please call on the postmaster.

Owing to a new washout at Dos Palmos on the Sunset route the train failed to arrive last evening from Tucson and a special mail, express and passenger train was made up in Los Angeles and sent to San Francisco and eastern connecting lines overland.

James Murphy was arrested on Los Angeles street yesterday and locked up on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was endeavoring to create a disturbance and progressing very well when Officer Collins appeared upon the scene and shattered his hopes.

Ebony is now imitated on wood by simply painting with a one-per-cent solution of sulphate of copper, and, on this becoming dry, painting the wood over with a liquid consisting of equal weights of analine, hydrochloride and spirits of wine; the effect of the blue vitriol is to act on the analine and form nigroism, a black which cannot be affected by acids or alkalies To this a luster can be added by coating the surface with simple copra varnish.

REAL ESTATE.

COMBINATION

Land Company.

Special No. 2.

Came up from the west as the sun went down—
To sell a few lots he was doing his best;
And his best was as good as any in town.
For agents must work or sellers will weep,
And commissions are low, and all costs to keep
A real estate office running.

A real estate buyer, wary and wise,
Went with the agent to the seaside;
He trusted no words, but trusted his eyes;
This buyer of land who was slow to decide.
For buyers must look and ponder and keep
Their eyes wide open, though land be cheap
In this country of booms and booming.

He saw Leucadia in all its glory
Of vineyards and orchards and sea-beach grand,
And he said it is true! Not half of the story
Has been told concerning this fairy land!
And he bought a block—bought it at once,
For he said to buy not was the act of a dunce
When the land is so cheap and charming.

South of the San Marcos river, on the line of the California Southern railroad, an hour's ride from San Diego and less than four hours' ride from Los Angeles by the A. T. & S. F. line now building, LEUCADIA lies in the lap of Paradise. She is the fairest of all the fair daughters of the sea. She is the Venus Amphridite of Southern California. The beach at Leucadia is as hard as asphalt and as level as a ballroom floor, and the surf is so light it would not upset a baby. Generally seaside soil is not prolific—agriculturally speaking—but the land at Leucadia is exceptionally fertile and beautiful. From the edge of the bluff overhanging the ocean it ascends gently to the summit of the first ridge, then it descends gently to a valley, through which the railroad runs, and then ascends to the summit of the second ridge, where it descends rapidly into a ravine running into the San Marcos river. There are no arroyos, no abrupt places, and no uneven ground. Every part of the tract is visible from every other part. If you wish to live directly upon the ocean, the first terrace from the beach affords lovely building sites. If you wish ocean breeze and view, without the sound of the surf, the upper terraces will give you these. If you wish a valley, sheltered from the ocean breezes and yet within three or four hundred yards of the beach—all this can be had at Leucadia. The soil is simply wonderful. On the summit or the second ridge is a ten-acre grove of Eucalyptus trees, two years old and twenty feet high, grown without a drop of water. On the slopes of the ridge, bordering on the ocean, are orchards of Adriatic figs, and fields of corn twelve feet high, and in the valley through which the railroad runs there are vineyards of Muscat grapes, three years old, in full bearing; apricot trees loaded with fruit, and young orange trees, as lively and as lovely and as self-reliant as if they were not growing within 300 yards of the ocean surf, within whose sound some agricultural liar has remarked that "oranges will not grow." And all this without one drop of water except what has fallen from the clouds. The workmen are now sinking the first well ever put down in Leucadia, with the exception of a well which was sunk in the valley, and which was given up because the owner, at the depth of fifty feet, struck a vein of mineral water. It is excellent for gout, rheumatism and kidney disease, and is a mild cathartic, but the well-digger's garden did not have the gout, and his kidneys ranked A-1, copper-bottomed and copper-fastened, and his mules did not need a cathartic, so he gave up the well—and thus there has never been any irrigation to help the wonderful vegetation of Leucadia. (We shall clear out the mineral well by and by and put a house over it and give the victims of dyspepsia a show.)

Well, this paradise is being made ready for the market. We are something more than commission agents in the case of Leucadia—we are owners of a large block of the stock of the Leucadia Company, and it is our hope and our pride to help make Leucadia the banner seaside resort of the coast. Leucadia has been surveyed and mapped, the avenues, 260 feet apart, running parallel with the railroad and ocean beach, and streets at right angles 400 feet apart. The avenues are named after Greek divinities and the streets after ancient Greek personages. These Greeks are all thoroughly dead and lot buyers will take no chances of being obliged to change the names of the streets whereon they live on account of subsequent misconduct of the people after whom the streets are named. The streets have been cut out, and a railroad station has been built, and a road is now being graded down to the beach and bath houses being erected, and a siding and station is being constructed. And when we offer lots in Leucadia for sale, we shall have something more to present to purchasers than "the substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen."

The streets of Leucadia will be planted with shade trees and water will be piped along its avenues, and there will be "The Sappho," one of the finest seaside hotels in California, to aid in the erection of which the Leucadia Company will devote one-fifth of the proceeds of sales of all lots. Arrangements will also be made looking to a union church, and an opera house, where the plays of Sophocles will be rendered, and possibly an ampitheater, where there will be classical games, ending with a grand combat between coyotes and anti-seaside snarlers, with the betting in favor of the cayotes. You who are looking for homes, you who are looking for investments, you who are looking for a safe and profitable speculation, wait a few weeks for Leucadia.

About October 15th there will be an auction upon the ground of two or three hundred lots to fix prices. After that the even-numbered blocks will be placed on sale in San Diego, and the odd-numbered blocks will be placed on sale at Los Angeles. Maps and descriptive pamphlets will be ready shortly at our office. You don't know where our office is? Well, neither do we. We hope to have an office soon. We are looking for one. We do not propose to pay double Broadway rents for a Chatham street den, and so we have waited; but we will have an office soon. If any landlord has a desirable office or suite of offices on the first or second floor which he desires to rent to a fine-looking, rent-paying, God-fearing tenant, let him drop a line to us, in care of HERALD office, Los Angeles.

CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APPLIED TO A peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent, and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic feature is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acrid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downward his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with grimish tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve that discomfort by drawing the mucus into the throat so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged by way of the nostrils or throat in lumps or fragments of a deep green tint. In some cases these incrustations accumulate to such an extent as to form a regular plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produce serious discomfort. So firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; not unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which, in time, may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, slimy secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities and then putrefies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering, and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are others in which all the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the bones of the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression over the forehead, especially in the region above and between the eyes, and to a feeling of fulness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes there is pain obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits, and, occasionally, pain manifests itself in the form of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted, and at times assumes an exceeding fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and conjested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable, stuffy sensation in the head, and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffing quality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the part, and frequent attempts to clear the throat of phlegm, producing the sound "hem," more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fullness, or a choky sensation in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness, for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of a constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less and becomes weak and irritable: the appetite is capricious and nearly always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility, is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment seriously threatened.

The mucous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest causes, so that at last a breath of wind upon the lining of the nose or throat becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, each attack aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse and involving a larger extent of surface than its predecessor. In this manner the difficulty spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larnyx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, encroaching further and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless the disease has advanced to the chest and that both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address
